Description

Bring the romance of a cottage garden indoors with this meticulously detailed large spray featuring delicate blooms in seasonally curated hues. Each stem presents a thoughtful arrangement of petals that catch and reflect light, creating depth and dimension in any decorative setting. The spray's dynamic composition allows for effortless styling in both traditional and contemporary spaces, making it an exceptional choice for retailers seeking to address diverse customer preferences. This artificial botanical piece pairs wonderfully with our LED candle collection, particularly the Luxe Collection Natural Glow series, which enhances its authentic appeal through warm illumination. For added visual interest, consider combining with our White Poppy Stem and Light Purple Chrysanthemum to create stunning seasonal displays that will captivate your customers' attention. The spray's adaptable nature makes it perfect for both standalone statement pieces and larger floral compositions, offering your customers endless styling possibilities. When merchandised alongside our wicker lanterns and LED candle arrangements, it creates an irresistible display that encourages multiple product purchases.
