Description

A graceful interpretation of classical Mediterranean design, this plant pot features a distinctive rimmed profile that adds architectural interest to any retail space. The subtle texture and weathered finish evoke images of sun-drenched courtyards and ancient vessels, making it an ideal vessel for both artificial and live botanicals when properly lined. Create an appealing merchandise story by pairing this versatile container with the coordinating Athena Jar Shaped Planter and Athena Tall Jug from the same collection. For a complete display that will resonate with design-conscious customers, consider combining it with the Garda Grey Glazed Tiber Vase or the minimalist Matt White Ceramic Column Candle Holder. The pot's considered proportions and refined details make it equally suited to traditional and contemporary settings, offering retailers a product with broad market appeal and strong visual merchandising potential.
