Description

Delicate white plumes dance atop slender stems in this enchanting collection of bunny tail grass, creating an atmosphere of ethereal beauty in any space. The crisp white coloration and soft, cloud-like texture of these dried florals offer an organic sculptural element that adds depth and visual interest to contemporary interiors. Perfect for minimal arrangements in slim-necked vessels, these versatile stems also blend seamlessly with pampas grass and other dried botanicals for fuller compositions. The natural, airy quality of bunny tails, also known as Lagurus Grass, provides an artful way to incorporate botanical elements that require no maintenance while delivering year-round visual impact. For maximum style impact, pair these charming stems with the Darcy antique white vase, complement with dried sun palms for height variation, or mix with white gypsophila sprays for a cohesive monochromatic display. The bunch of 60 stems allows for multiple arrangement possibilities, making it an essential addition to any well-curated dried floral collection that will appeal to design-conscious customers seeking lasting botanical decor.
