Description

Welcome winter's splendour with our woodland fir wreath, a lush display of deep emerald boughs arranged in a perfect circular formation. This authentic-looking creation captures the essence of a frost-dusted forest scene, with dense, life-like needle clusters that maintain their rich colour throughout the season. The detailed layering technique creates impressive depth and dimension, while subtle variations in the foliage textures produce engaging visual interest from every angle. The substantial 50cm diameter makes this wreath an ideal focal point for entryways, walls, or above mantels, commanding attention without overwhelming the space. For retail display purposes, consider pairing with our pine cone garlands, metallic berry picks, or battery-operated micro LED string lights to create enticing merchandise groupings. The wreath's classic design allows for endless customisation possibilities - suggest to customers our collection of winter berries, frosted eucalyptus sprays, or woodland animal ornaments to personalise their display. The sturdy construction ensures longevity for both commercial and residential settings, while the realistic needles require minimal maintenance, making it an appealing option for busy retail environments and homeowners alike. Perfect for traditional and contemporary spaces, this wreath offers excellent value as a foundational piece for seasonal decorating programmes.
