Description

Imbued with the warmth of autumn's splendour, this luxuriant spray combines authentic-looking berries and foliage to produce a dramatic focal point for seasonal displays. The carefully curated blend of autumnal hues creates depth and dimension, while the generous 82cm height provides substantial visual impact in both residential and commercial settings. The realistic textures and natural movements of each element demonstrate outstanding attention to detail, making it indistinguishable from fresh-cut botanicals. This artificial arrangement delivers year-round beauty without maintenance, offering excellent value for retailers and their customers. For maximum visual effect, consider pairing with our complementary Cream Pin cushion Protes Spray and White Eremurus Stem, which share the same commitment to authenticity and quality. The collection also includes the Pink Hyacinth Stem and Cream Giant Allium Stem, allowing for the creation of stunning mixed arrangements that will appeal to design-conscious consumers seeking lasting botanical displays. Each stem can be positioned individually, enabling endless creative possibilities for window displays, interior styling, and seasonal merchandising that will resonate with customers throughout the year. The durability of materials ensures the arrangement maintains its fresh appearance indefinitely, making it an excellent investment for trade buyers looking to expand their artificial botanical offerings.
