Description

Infused with artisanal charm, this stone candle holder showcases intricate texturing and a meticulously crafted stone-effect finish that brings understated luxury to any space. The neutral palette and organic aesthetic make it an ideal centerpiece for modern and traditional settings alike. For an impactful display, pair with its coordinating smaller and medium-sized companions from the same collection, or enhance the look with our Garda decorative artichokes and Bloomville stone ginger jar. The addition of our Luxe Collection LED candles creates an inviting atmosphere while maintaining safety and longevity. This remarkable piece works harmoniously in table arrangements or as a standalone statement on shelving, perfect for retailers looking to offer their customers distinctive home accents that speak to current design preferences.
