Description

With precise geometric patterning and modern silhouette, this medium striped vase from the Pallida Collection demonstrates mastery in contemporary design. The deliberate linear grooves create mesmerising depth and dimension, while its proportions offer perfect balance on any surface. The structured form pays homage to architectural influences, making it a centrepiece that demands attention in modern interiors. This refined piece coordinates seamlessly with the taller ridged vase within the Pallida range, creating a harmonious visual story when displayed as a set. For those seeking to build a cohesive collection, consider pairing with the complementary Sabbia Collection ribbed vase or the minimalist Volta bud vase, both of which share similar design principles and material qualities. The understated colour palette ensures adaptability across various design schemes, from understated minimalism to lavish maximalist spaces. When styled with artificial botanicals, this vase takes on new dimensions, allowing for creative expression through height and scale. The medium size provides ample opportunity for dramatic floral arrangements while maintaining a refined footprint that works equally well in compact spaces. Whether positioned as a standalone statement or grouped with coordinating pieces, this vase represents the pinnacle of current design trends while promising enduring style.
