Description

A masterful display of contemporary craftsmanship, this ridged pot vase from the Pallida collection presents an intriguing interplay of textures and proportions. The pronounced vertical ridges create dynamic shadows and depth across the surface, while the refined proportions offer a balanced silhouette that commands attention without overwhelming its surroundings. The vase's structured form makes it an ideal centerpiece for modern interiors, whether displayed solo or arranged in groupings. Its subtle yet impactful design allows for countless styling possibilities, from minimalist arrangements to abundant floral displays. The carefully considered dimensions ensure it maintains visual weight while remaining practically sized for various display options. For maximum visual impact, pair this piece with complementary items from the collection such as the Seville Lebes Squat Vase or the Marble Pudding Vase, which share its commitment to refined geometry and considered proportions. The Black Cast Lattice Large Vase offers an excellent contrasting accompaniment, its openwork pattern creating an engaging dialogue with the solid ridged surface of this piece. For those seeking to create layered arrangements, the Light Green Ceramic Flower Frog provides practical support while adding a subtle colour accent to the ensemble.
