Description

Bring perpetual springtime charm to your retail space with this meticulously detailed faux lavender spray that captures every nuance of the beloved herb. Each stem showcases seven perfectly formed blooms that mirror natural lavender's delicate structure and subtle coloring, making it indistinguishable from fresh-cut stems. The adaptable design allows for effortless positioning, whether displayed as a standalone accent or grouped to create fuller arrangements. This maintenance-free botanical accent requires no watering or care, making it an ideal choice for busy retail environments and design-conscious customers. For a complete collection that appeals to modern tastes, pair with our white gypsophila spray for an airy, romantic look, or combine with blue eryngium thistle and variegated eucalyptus to create dramatic, textural arrangements that maintain their appeal throughout the seasons. The green peony and lamb's ear sprays offer additional complementary options for creating varied displays that will attract discerning customers seeking lasting botanical decor.
