Description

Elevate your artificial floral offerings with our exquisite White Elatum Delphinium stem from The Natural Garden Collection. This lifelike Delphinium Elatum, also known as larkspur, boasts a tall, elegant spike adorned with delicate florets that capture the essence of an English cottage garden. Perfect for creating show-stopping centerpieces or adding vertical interest to mixed arrangements, this faux Delphinium pairs beautifully with roses, peonies, or wildflowers for a romantic, cottage-inspired look. Its versatile white hue complements any color scheme, making it ideal for weddings, special events, or year-round home decor. Durable and long-lasting, this faux floral stem offers excellent value for your retail customers, ensuring their arrangements remain fresh and vibrant without the need for water or care. Stock this timeless beauty to attract discerning shoppers looking to bring a touch of perennial elegance to their homes.
