Description

Bring botanical brilliance to your floral arrangements with this richly detailed variegated leaf spray. The deep green foliage showcases natural-looking variations in color and texture, providing depth and dimension to any display. This meticulously designed spray functions as an essential foundation piece for creating lush, professional arrangements that will appeal to your discerning clientele. For an unmatched aesthetic impact, consider pairing with our White Japanese Blossom stems for a crisp contrast, or layer with the Green Amaranthus for added texture. The White Butterfly Orchid stems complement the variegated leaves perfectly, creating an air of refined beauty. For those seeking to offer complete styling solutions, recommend the Regola Stone Ceramic Vase to your customers - its neutral tones provide an ideal backdrop for showcasing these botanical elements. This leaf spray represents a smart investment for retailers, offering year-round appeal and endless creative possibilities for both traditional and contemporary arrangements.
