Description

A stunning reflection of traditional craftsmanship meets coastal charm in this round mirror with a washed wood frame. The weather-worn patina creates an authentic aged appearance, mimicking driftwood found along sun-bleached shores. The muted, organic tones complement both modern and rustic interior schemes, making it an essential addition to any retail collection. This piece pairs exceptionally well with our Seeded Eucalyptus Stem for a natural accent, the Kubu Rattan Storage Baskets for textural harmony, and the Dolce series of botanical canvas prints which echo its circular motif. The Athena Stone Hurricane Lantern provides an ideal accompaniment, sharing similar weathered characteristics. For a cohesive display, consider matching it with our Grey Washed Photo Frames, which maintain the consistent design language. The careful balance of size and visual weight ensures this mirror functions as both a practical item and decorative focal point. Its versatile aesthetic appeals to customers seeking both contemporary and traditional styling options, while the neutral palette ensures compatibility with diverse color schemes. The artisanal finish technique creates subtle variations in each piece, offering customers a sense of uniqueness. As a statement piece that works equally well in entryways, living spaces, or bathroom settings, this mirror represents an excellent investment for retailers targeting design-conscious consumers.
