Description

Bring the graceful beauty of winter florals indoors with this meticulously detailed white willow spray from the distinguished Recipe Collection. The long, supple stems support delicate catkins that create an enchanting silhouette, perfect for adding dramatic height and organic movement to arrangements. This exceptional faux botanical captures the ethereal charm of natural pussy willow with remarkable authenticity. For an inspired seasonal display, pair with white gypsophila sprays to create a cloud-like effect, or contrast with deep green asparagus fern bunches for added texture. The addition of seeded eucalyptus stems provides a contemporary botanical aesthetic, while white cherry blossom sprays complement the winter-to-spring transitional appeal. This artificial stem works brilliantly in both minimalist single-stem presentations and as a structural element in larger mixed arrangements, making it an essential addition to any retailer's botanical collection. Consider displaying in the Regola matt white ceramic vase or the Darcy antique white vase to complete the refined look that your discerning customers seek.
